AMUSEMENT NOTES

The Lion and the Mouse.

The sale of seats for the return engagement of Henry B. Harris' production of Charles Klein's drama of financial and political life, "The Lion and the Mouse," begins on Saturday morning. This will be an event of unusual interest to all playgoers, in view of the fact that they had the honor of witnessing a previous performance of this great play.

The storm of approval which the patrons of Barre had placed upon the play has been repeated throughout the country. It was played for two years in New York. It had a run of eight months in Chicago, and the same length of time in Boston.

There is nothing sensational about "The Lion and the Mouse," the enormously successful drama of American life, except the tremendous popularity which the play achieved on the night of the opening performance and which has since grown in volume until all America is discussing this latest work of Charles Klein.

The story of "The Lion and the Mouse" has to do with the upper class of Americans, and the author has treated them in such an original, vigorous and truthful manner the drama has a compelling interest which is positively fascinating to the playgoer. The principal character is John Burdick Ryder, in whom playgoers will recognize a well-known American, famous as the richest man in America and also very much in the public eye at the present time because of his ability to dodge subpoena servers. The opposite leading figure is Shirley Rosemore, daughter of an upright judge whom Ryder and his political friends seek to disgrace because of a ruling that was distasteful to them. The other principal characters include a United States senator and his daughter; an ex-judge of the Supreme court; Jefferson Ryder, son of the millionaire; Rex Pontifex Deotle and his sister Jane, well-meaning folks of highly religious principles, and some dozen others whom playgoers will be quick to recognize as types common to everyday life.

Daniel Sully Coming.

When Daniel Sully first produced the Parish Priest he met with much opposition from people of ultra-religious tendencies, who were opposed to putting a priest on the stage; he had a hard time convincing the public that the play was meritorious, but in the end he succeeded and "The Parish Priest" became the greatest of his triumphs. So thoroughly did he become identified with this play that it is doubtful if he will ever be accepted in anything but a clerical role; for three years he has been seeking a suitable play, and he has finally found it in "The Golden Rule," a romantic comedy-drama in four acts by Jerrold Shephard. It is a story of New York City life in which Mr. Sully appears as the pastor. The play is intensely dramatic with an undercurrent of rich Celtic humor, and is pronounced by press and public to be the best thing Sully has ever produced. "The Golden Rule" will be the attraction at the opera house on Monday evening, Dec. 2.

A Hard Debt to Pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark of Westfield, Iowa, "for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent, when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure. Nothing has ever equalled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by Red Cross Pharmacy. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

When to Feed Poultry Food.

Not long ago the manufacturers of "Page's Perfected Poultry Food" inquired of some of the prominent poultry breeders of New England as to what they considered the best time in which to feed this food. D. J. Lambert of Apponaug, R. I., who is famous as a breeder of high class poultry and one of the best known in New England, answered as follows: "We feed 'Page's Poultry Food' every month in the year."

Any one sending his address on a postal card to C. S. Page, Hyde Park, Vt., and mentioning this paper, will receive by mail, free, postpaid, a sample package of "Page's Perfected Poultry Food."

The entertainment given by the village school Friday evening drew a full house and was a decided success. Those taking part showed good training and much capability of talent for which they were loudly applauded. It is hoped another such entertainment will be held during the winter term.

The peaceful quiet of Lower Cabot was somewhat disturbed last Wednesday evening when several of the young men formed into a band and were headed toward Matthew Batchelder's giving the sleeping occupants of the houses along the way the benefit of their musical talents. At the home of Mr. Batchelder they were treated and asked for more music, after which they returned to their homes. The young ladies wishing to share the pleasures of their husbands and brothers gathered on Thursday evening and wended their way to the same residence saluting the newly married couple with the chiming from their bells and horns interspersed with a few cannon crackers, they were invited to the dining room and given a fine treat, after a social hour the party started homeward to await another such occasion in the near future.

Notice to Union Men of Barre and Vicinity.

It has been reported to the Central Labor Union of Barre that the so-called union stores of Barre, which this body have advertised as carrying full lines of union-made goods, have in some instances either failed to refill their shelves with union-made goods or are trying to push non-union-made goods in preference to union-made. This being detrimental to the interests of organized labor, the executive committee of the C. L. U. request all union men who fall to find union-made goods in the stores where they trade, or the merchants to refuse to get these goods at their request, to report all such cases to the union label committee of that body.

L. O. Baker, Jr., N. U., '06, is engineering at Johnson City, Tenn.

The marriage engagement is announced of Miss Mary A. Reed, daughter of the late Judge L. M. Reed, to H. Kibbe Brooks of St. Albans, formerly prominent in the management of the Cazen company at Bellows Falls.

Lieut. L. A. I. Chapman, 1st Cavalry, commandant at Norwich university, is in receipt of an order from the war department instructing him to report during the last week of November to the resident of the examining board at Fort Riley, Kansas, to take examinations for promotion to captaincy.

General Grenville M. Dodge, N. U., '51, who is chairman of the Grant Memorial commission, has ordered the suspension of operations until he can confer with Secretary Taft concerning complications which have arisen in connection with the location selected for the memorial in the Botanical Garden, Washington. It has been discovered that the erection of the memorial upon the site in question will necessitate the removal of three historic trees, known as Beck elm, Chittenden oak and Howard elm. Against this the citizens of Washington have remonstrated so strenuously that the whole work has been delayed until the proper investigations can be made.

Taft Leaves Vladivostok.

Precautions Being Taken to Secure His Safety.
